

Tundra at 12 months

"During the past two year Gary has brought his pair of wolves to visit my class. These animals captivate the children. The wolves are well trained and Gary handles them firmly and gently. The pupils are riveted to his multi-media presentation, which is fascinating as well as educational. Both the students and I recommend to other teachers that they invite Gary to speak about his wolves. It is a unique opportunity for our children to connect with a vital part of our natural environment."

"The morning with Tundra was very educational and inspiring. Everyone in my class wants a wolf. I realize this is impossible but at least we learned a little more about the wolf and how the wolf is really misunderstood."
